Dear CommAgency,

I am writing to apply for the position at CommAgency as either a director or part of the production staff. I would appreciate the opportunity to work alongside other students with handling real world clients and business opportunities. As a student, I have taken several classes on the media and film industry. As part of these courses I learned the processes of filming, writing, and editing. From this, I have gained abilities in directing and working with teams to accomplish a clear vision.

During my junior year at Penn State I have participated in a student run organization called 46live. As assistant package producer, it was my job to record and edit videos to promote our schools THON event, a 46-hour dance marathon. During the day of the marathon my job was to record events and edit recap videos within a two-hour window to put on our live stream, which was watched by over 14k people.

I also began an Internship with The Eberly College of Science, my job was to document keynotes, workshops, and other actives and upload them to YouTube.

I look forward to hearing back for you and am thankful for your consideration,

Sincerely,
Andrew McDaniel
