

Why I took the Penn State Athletics Strategic Communications Internship

I took the internship because I wanted to become a more versatile journalist. Along with becoming a better writer, I want to become better with producing content on social media, including using InDesign and photoshop. My dream is to work for an NFL or NBA team, and I feel working for the Penn State Athletics Strategic Communications will teach me the necessary skills I need to get there. I'm also very interested in covering other sports to broaden my knowledge for when I start applying for jobs. Taking the internship for credit will motivate me to want to do as much as possible to see myself become the best journalist that I can be.
