

After my first internship in Summer 2021, I have realized that the hand-on experience I had got was the best way for me to learn what I enjoy and do not enjoy doing. It also puts into perspective how I would like to see my future and assist in the different steps on the way to navigate to that point. Having an internship and being hands-on as a college student allows you to learn so much. Working within a team on so many different projects and in team meetings I was able to absorb all of the different aspects of working within a company. After learning as much as I did, I have realized how important internships are to have before you graduate. I was not able to get one summer of 2022 therefore, I was determined to secure one remotely for the fall 2022 semester. It is a remote internship that works perfectly with my class schedule. It opens more doors for opportunity and allows me to build my knowledge regarding working experience within the PR industry. I loved working with Behrman Communications last semester and am thankful to have the opportunity to do so again. I look forward to continuing working with my team and excited for all the new things I will learn and carry with me to my future career.
