

Before professor Curt Chandler passed away, he told me about his unfinished documentary about a woman making Pierogie in Grange Fair, Centre Hall, every year. It was the smell and taste that he could never forget. He promised to hand me the hard drive filled with footage, hoping I could be the editor of this film. This semester, me and professor Pearl Gluck are determined to work on this film to honor Curt during the Centre Film Festival.