National Endowment for the Humanities
Holocaust, Genocide and Human Rights Education Initiative at Penn State
Donald P. Bellasario – College of Communications
University Park, PA 16802

Dear Selection Committee,

I am writing this letter on behalf of Mrs. Molly Dallmeyer who is applying to be a candidate for the National Endowment for the Humanities Opportunity at Penn State University. This letter comes with the highest of recommendation for Mrs. Dallmeyer as her professionalism and commitment to Holocaust education in public education is second to none. She started the elective course entitled Holocaust Studies in the 2000 academic school year. She singlehandedly designed and developed the content of this elective class. As a result she has been instrumental in bringing awareness of the social injustices that resulted in the Holocaust to our student body.

Over the years, the course has grown to the point that Mrs. Dallmeyer's entire teaching schedule is Holocaust Studies. She is able to teach approximately 350 high school students each year about the Holocaust. It is safe to estimate that more than half of the students that have come through the halls of Dallastown over the last 20 years have been educated about the Holocaust via Mrs. Dallmeyer. She has tirelessly continued to update the course, coordinate Holocaust survivor speakers for her students when possible, and take her students on field trips to the U.S. Holocaust Memorial Museum when the school district's budget allows. Mrs. Molly Dallmeyer should definitely be selected as a candidate. Her passion for making sure the horrors of the Holocaust are not forgotten is inspiring. Sincerely,
