

Ideally, I hope for this internship to provide me with a professional experience in filmmaking and more behind-the-scenes action. I want to come out with knowledge of how a production company runs and how people work together to create a product for everyone's enjoyment. I desire an internship because I believe in order to pursue my passions, I need to work hard and meet people along the way while establishing connections. I want to show people how dedicated I am to the company and put my best foot forward. For my career, I am looking to become a filmmaker for large production companies for movies, sports, etc. The more experience I get in this industry, the better.
