

This semester, I decided to apply for internships because I wanted experience relating to my major. Previously, I had internships in social media, and I realized I did not love the world of social media and I would like to explore public relations more. I hope to gain experience in public relations and find a love for the industry. I have already started my internship and I am loving everything about it so far. One day, I would love to be a celebrity publicist or be a publicist for a well-known company.
