

I want an internship so I can apply my strengths and passions in a professional environment. I am hoping that an internship in my desired field will give me tools (such as writing skills, connections, research skills, etc.) to excel in my work environment, in my classes, and in my future endeavors. I want to work in public relations, specifically in the entertainment industry. I've always had a passion for music, film, and theater, and I want to use my creativity, communication skills, and writing skills towards a field I am interested in. I am willing to take any steps necessary to do PR in entertainment, and I know that I will be a great fit in my role as an Artist Management and Promotions Intern at Mezz Entertainment.
