

I desire an internship because I would like to further my public relations knowledge, gain real-world experience and expand my understanding of the field. Additionally, I believe an internship would help advance my career. I would like to take away a diverse skillset from an internship including collaborative, writing, technical and professional skills. I intend to work for a large public relations agency or to do public relations work for a large company in the future, and believe that an internship would allow me to achieve this goal. Overall, I am extremely interested in pursuing an internship due to the skills and experience it would allow me to gain, which in turn will benefit my professional career.
