

I desire this internship because I have a passion for making sports graphics, similar to what I'll be doing for the Women's Basketball team. What I would like to gain from this internship is both experience and credit. Ideally, it would prepare me for the future, where I could work a very similar job one day. Adding onto the experience aspect - it could help me land another internship either over the summer or during another athletic season. Finally, an internship for the basketball team is teaching me that you can't always start with the sports you want to mainly work for (I'm primarily a baseball and football fan).
