

As a student, it is important to be dedicated to learning both in and outside the classroom, whether that be joining clubs or completing internships. I am so excited to be interning with Penn State Athletics so I can continue this learning. Not only will I be able to learn from industry professionals, but I will also be able to work hands on gaining relevant experience. As someone who wants to work in sports, I am so glad that I go to a school that can give me these opportunities so early on in only my second year. I am extremely confident that this internship will enrich my love for the communications world and teach me valuable lessons that I cannot get in just the classroom alone.
