

This fall semester, I am looking forward to working with Penn State football on their Player Development team. I desire an internship because I want to find a way to get more involved on campus. The past 2 years I have had an abundance of free time and it hasn't been to my benefit. I do better in all aspects of life when I am busy. I hope to gain more experience in the sports business field through my work this fall. This summer, I have been working with an NIL consultancy firm, and this is the perfect opportunity for me to continue my work in the field. Working with the player development team at Penn State ties in perfectly with work experience. My overall career aspirations are to either work full time at an NIL firm, such as the one I am currently interning for, or to work for a professional sports franchise, such as the Washington Commanders, in their player development office. All in all, I think this is the perfect opportunity for me to set myself up for success in my future professional career.
